

Dear All,

We, the IOC-Communications and Publications Committee, would like to invite all of you to submit "Letters", "Opinion" and "Perspective" articles on all aspects of Ornithology, ranging from ecosystems to molecules, from basic to applied research, and also including education and outreach.

We would like to consider and publish your articles in the new web page of the International Ornithologists' Union

<http://www.internationalornithology.org>

You can see the first published articles in http://www.internationalornithology.org/wg_psittaciformes.html

or in

<http://psittaciformes.internationalornithology.org/viewforum.php?f=48>

Although we have no fixed format for submission, we would be most grateful if you could follow the one in any of these already published articles.

Please, send your manuscript to:

Dr. Juan F. Masello
Communications and Publications Committee
International Ornithologists' Union
e-mail: psittaciformes@internationalornithology.org

After reviewing, the articles will be made freely available in our web page

No registration is needed to access the International Ornithologists' Union web page. As you can see in the links above, the first published articles already reached thousands of reads, making this an ideal tool for the dissemination of your letters and opinions.

We look forward to your contributions!

All the best,

The IOC-Communications and Publications Committee team
